

Samuel K. Lipari, founder of Medical Supply Line, the global on-line market place for medical supplies, at his office headquarters. www.MedicalSupplyLine.com

With more than twenty years of experience assembling effective management teams and developing cost efficient market strategies for complex procurement systems, Mr. Lipari is best known for his design and implementation of integrated supply chain management systems. Over the years, Lipari has changed the landscape on the delivery of institutional medical supplies and is now focusing on bringing affordable medical products to consumers worldwide.

Founder and President
Medical Supply Chain, Inc.
Kansas City MO
www.MedicalSupplyChain.com

In 2000, Lipari founded Medical Supply Chain, Inc. to erect an e-commerce marketplace for healthcare supplies. While directing administrative, capital and risk assessment requirements, Lipari secured capital, developed cost-optimization strategies and designed and introduced an e-commerce application now considered the gold standard for delivering institutional medical supplies to the US Healthcare system.

Founder and CEO
Medical Supply Management, Inc.
Lee's Summit MO
www.MedicalSupplyMgmt.com

In 1995, an unacceptable void in the US healthcare delivery system drove Lipari to redesign the delivery of institutional medical supplies. Lipari's e-commerce system was later adopted by market leaders, and today experts concur Lipari's system is saving billions.

Chief Operating Officer
Physicians Management Group, Inc.
Blue Springs MO

In 1993, Lipari designed propriety software on an EDI backbone, which he branded as MSIS (Medical Supply Information System). Lipari's custom software delivered point-to-point procurement transactions, consolidating and aligning the processes of supply-chain management. Lipari's MSIS was later used as a turnkey solution for enterprise-wide, supply-chain data management.

Vice President—Operations
Healthcare Management Resources, Inc.
Phoenix AZ

In 1986, seeing a broader application for WellMark's clearing house reimbursement system designed with Bell Labs, Lipari successfully adapted it to the vast, untapped market of non-acute care facilities.

"Mr. Lipari is an accomplished executive; entrepreneurial; motivated; with team building qualities and over 20 years experience planning, developing and implementing strategic initiatives in order to achieve business objectives. An excellent business strategist and adept at delivering results through innovative, yet practical solutions." Lynn James Everard C.P.M., A.P.P.