Dear Mr. Power,

I have made myself available on several occasions for the scheduling conference order you were required by the court to take the lead on. I have had no response from you until I came to your office Thursday and waited for over 30 min. only to be greeted by your secretary with a form letter and an offer to wait longer until you finished up with your meeting. I called after you left a message indicating you were ready after I had left and your secretary indicated you would be in arbitration the following week so it would be unlikely to meet in person for the scheduling conference. I often wonder what could be more important than an order from the court that is late in addition to my claims for $450,000,000 in contract damages. I will be happy to meet in person at your earliest convenience. Sincerely, Samuel Lipari
